MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Personnel

FROM: Director of Central Intelligence

SUBJECT:

25X1

1. The attached is from a fellow who is highly successful at what he is currently doing at a very young age and who is interested in doing something more exciting and challenging. I can see reservations in the mind of a recruiter as to the wisdom of his endurability regarding his giving up what he has achieved to start over again. There may be other question marks about his situation.

2. As a prototype, I'd like to review his file and the reply to it with you as a basis for discussing whether we are unnecessarily missing opportunities to attract unusual recruits and whether we can develop a better method of testing and experimenting with the kind of opportunities they may afford us.

Mr. William Casey

Dear Mr. Casey:

I enjoyed the few minutes that we briefly spent speaking together at the Coconuts on New Year's Eve.

As I had mentioned, I answered an advertisement last year in the Wall Street Journal for CIA employment in the clandestine services. The process culminated in a three day meeting at Langley in the beginning of October. During the various interviews all parties seemed very enthusiastic. However, last month I received a negative response from the director of personnel.

I was curious about the reasons behind the final answer and intended to write a "freedom of information" request to view my file. I knew, however, that I would see you at the Coconuts and thought that I would first ask you if this would be effective.

I hope that this is in no way an imposition on your time or position, and I wish you and Mrs. Casey the best in the new year.

Sincerely,
